A HOOSIER ROMANCE

I HAIN'T no hand at tellin' tales,
Er spinnin' yarns, as the sailors say ;
Someway o' 'nother, language fails
To slide fer me in the oily way
That lawyers has ; and I wisht it would,
Fer I 've got somepin' that I call good ;
But bein' only a country squire,
I 've learned to listen and admire,

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Ruther preferrin' to be addressed
Than talk myse'f—but I 'll do my best:—

Old Jeff Thompson—well, I 'll say,
Was the clos'test man I ever saw!—
Rich as cream, but the porest pay,
And the meanest man to work fer—La!
I 've knowed that man to work one
“hand”—

Fer little er nothin', you understand—
From four o'clock in the morning light
Tel eight and nine o'clock at night,
And then find fault with his appetite!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

He 'd drive all over the neighborhood
To miss the place where a toll-gate stood,
And slip in town, by some old road
That no two men in the county knowed,
With a jag o' wood, and a sack o' wheat,
That would n't burn and you could n't eat!
And the trades he 'd make, 'll I jest declare,
Was enough to make a preacher swear!
And then he 'd hitch, and hang about
Tel the lights in the toll-gate was blowed out,
And then the turnpike he 'd turn in
And sneak his way back home ag'in!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Some folks hint, and I make no doubt,
That that 's what wore his old wife out —
Toilin' away from day to day
And year to year, through heat and cold,
Uncomplainin' — the same old way
The martyrs died in the days of old;
And a-clingin', too, as the martyrs done,
To one fixed faith, and her only one,—
Little Patience, the sweetest child
That ever wept unrickonciled,
Er felt the pain and the ache and sting
That only a mother's death can bring.

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Patience Thompson!—I think that name
Must a-come from a power above,
Fer it seemed to fit her jest the same
As a gaiter would, er a fine kid glove!
And to see that girl, with all the care
Of the household on her—I de-clare
It was oudacious, the work she 'd do,
And the thousand plans that she 'd putt through;
And sing like a medder-lark all day long,
And drownd her cares in the joys o' song;

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And laugh sometimes tel the farmer's
"hand,"

Away fur off in the fields, would stand
A-listenin', with the plow half drawn,
Tel the coaxin' echoes called him on;
And the furries seemed, in his dreamy
eyes,

Like footpaths a-leadin' to Paradise,
As off through the hazy atmosphere
The call fer dinner reached his ear.

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Now love 's as cunnin' a little thing
As a hummin'-bird upon the wing,
And as liable to poke his nose
Jest where folks would least suppose,—
And more 'n likely build his nest
Right in the heart you 'd leave unguessed,
And live and thrive at your expense—
At least, that 's my experience.

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And old Jeff Thompson often thought,
In his se'fish way, that the quiet John
Was a stiddy chap, as a farm-hand ought
To always be,—fer the airliest dawn
Found John busy—and “easy,” too,
Whenever his wages would fall due!—
To sum him up with a final touch,
He eat so little and worked so much,
That old Jeff laughed to hisse'f and said,
“He makes me money and airns his bread!”
But John, fer all of his quietude,
Would sometimes drap a word er so
That none but Patience understood,
And none but her was meant to know!—

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Mayby at meal-times John would say,
As the sugar-bowl come down his way,
“Thanky, no; my coffee 's sweet
Enough fer me!” with sich conceit,
She 'd know at once, without no doubt,
He meant because she poured it out;
And smile and blush, and all sich stuff,
And ast ef it was “strong enough?”
And git the answer, neat and trim,
“It could n't be too ‘strong’ fer him!”

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And so things went fer 'bout a year,
Tel John, at last, found pluck to go
And pour his tale in the old man's ear—
And ef it had been hot lead, I know
It could n't a-raised a louder fuss,
Ner a-riled the old man's temper wuss!
He jest lit in, and cussed and swore,
And lunged and rared, and ripped and tore,
And told John just to leave his door,
And not to darken it no more!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

But Patience cried, with eyes all wet,
“Remember, John, and don’t ferget,
Whatever comes, I love you yet!”
But the old man thought, in his se’fish way,
“I ’ll see her married rich some day;
And that,” thinks he, “is money fer me —
And my will ’s law, as it ought to be!”

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

So when, in the course of a month er so,
A widower, with a farm er two,
Comes to Jeff's, w'y, the folks, you know,
Had to talk—as the folks 'll do:
It was the talk of the neighborhood—
Patience and John, and their affairs;—
And this old chap with a few gray hairs
Had “cut John out,” it was understood.
And some folks reckoned “Patience, too,
Knowed what she was a-goin' to do—
It was like her—la! indeed!—
All she loved was dollars and cents—
Like old Jeff—and they saw no need
Fer John to pine at her negligence!”

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

But others said, in a kinder way,
They missed the songs she used to sing—
They missed the smiles that used to play
Over her face, and the laughin' ring
Of her glad voice — that everything
Of her old se'f seemed dead and gone,
And this was the ghost that they gazed on!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Tel finally it was noised about
There was a weddin' soon to be
Down at Jeff's; and the "cat was out"
Shore enough!—'Ll the Jee-mun-nee!
It riled me when John told me so,—
Fer I was a friend o' John's, you know;
And his trimblin' voice jest broke in two—
As a feller's voice 'll sometimes do.—
And I says, says I, "Ef I know my biz—
And I think I know what jestice is,—
I 've read some law—and I 'd advise
A man like you to wipe his eyes,

811

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And square his jaws and start ag'in,

Fer jestic is a-goin' to win!"

And it was n't long tel his eyes had cleared

As blue as the skies, and the sun appeared

In the shape of a good old-fashioned smile

That I had n't seen fer a long, long while.

So we talked on fer a' hour er more,

And sunned ourselves in the open door,—

Tel a hoss-and-buggy down the road

Come a-drivin' up, that I guess John knowed,—

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Fer he winked and says, "I 'll dessap-pear—

They'd smell a mice ef they saw me here!"

And he thumbed his nose at the old gray mare,

And hid hisse'f in the house somewhere.

Well.—The rig drove up: and I raised my head

As old Jeff hollered to me and said

That "him and his old friend there had come

To see ef the squire was at home."

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

. . . I told 'em "I was; and I aimed to be
At every chance of a weddin'-fee!"
And then I laughed—and they laughed, too,—

Fer that was the object they had in view.
"Would I be on hands at eight that night?"
They ast; and 's-I, "You're mighty right,
I'll be on hands!" And then I bu'st
Out a-laughin' my very wu'st,—
And so did they, as they wheeled away
And drove to'rds town in a cloud o' dust.
Then I shet the door, and me and John
Laughed and laughed, and jest laughed on,

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Tel Mother drapped her specs, and by Jeewhillikers! I thought she 'd die!—
And she could n't a-told, I 'll bet my hat,
What on earth she was laughin' at!

But all o' the fun o' the tale hain't done!—
Fer a drizzlin' rain had jest begun,
And a-havin' 'bout four mile' to ride,
I jest concluded I 'd better light
Out fer Jeff's and save my hide,—
Fer it was a-goin' to storm, that night!
So we went down to the barn, and John
Saddled my beast, and I got on;

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And he told me somepin' to not ferget,
And when I left, he was laughin' yet.

And, 'proachin' on to my journey's end,
The great big draps o' the rain come down,
And the thunder growled in a way to lend
An awful look to the lowerin' frown
The dull sky wore; and the lightnin' glanced
Tel my old mare jest more 'n pranced,
And tossed her head, and bugged her eyes
To about four times their natchurl size,
As the big black lips of the clouds 'ud drap
Out some oath of a thunder-clap,

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And threaten on in an undertone
That chilled a feller clean to the bone!

But I struck shelter soon enough
To save myse'f. And the house was jammed
With the women-folks, and the weddin'- stuff:—

A great, long table, fairly crammed
With big pound-cakes—and chops and steaks—

And roasts and stews—and stumick-aches
Of every fashion, form, and size,
From twisters up to punkin-pies!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And candies, oranges, and figs,
And reezins,—all the “whilligigs”
And “jim-cracks” that the law allows
On sich occasions! — Bobs and bows
Of gigglin’ girls, with corkscrew curls,
And fancy ribbons, reds and blues,
And “beau-ketchers” and “curliques”
To beat the world! And seven o’clock Brought old Jeff;—and brought—the groom,—

With a sideboard-collar on, and stock
That choked him so, he had n’t room

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

To swaller in, er even sneeze,
Er clear his th'oat with any ease
Er comfort—and a good square cough
Would saw his Adam's-apple off!

But as fer Patience—My! Oomhoomh!—

I never saw her look so sweet!—
Her face was cream and roses, too;
And then them eyes o' heavenly blue
Jest made an angel all complete!
And when she split 'em up in smiles
And splintered 'em around the room,
And danced acrost and met the groom,

John Wolcott Adams

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And laughed out loud— It kind o' spiles
My language when I come to that —
Fer, as she laid away his hat,
Thinks I, "The papers hid inside
Of that said hat must make a bride
A happy one fer all her life,
Er else a wrecked and wretched wife!"

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And, someway, then, I thought of John,— Then looked to'rds Patience. . . . She was gone!—

The door stood open, and the rain
Was dashin' in; and sharp and plain
Above the storm we heerd a cry—
A ringin', laughin', loud "Good-by!"
That died away, as fleet and fast
A hoss's hoofs went splashin' past!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And that was all. 'T was done that quick! . . .

You 've heerd o' fellers "lookin' sick"?
I wisht you 'd seen the groom jest then—
I wisht you 'd seen them two old men,
With starin' eyes that fairly glared
At one another, and the scared
And empty faces of the crowd,—
I wisht you could a-been allowed
To jest look on and see it all,—
And heerd the girls and women bawl

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

And wring their hands; and heerd old

Jeff

A-cussin' as he swung hisse'f

Upon his hoss, who champed his bit

As though old Nick had holt of it:

And cheek by jowl the two old wrecks

Rode off as though they 'd break their necks.

And as we all stood starin' out

Into the night, I felt the brush

Of some one's hand, and turned about,

And heerd a voice that whispered,

"Hush! —

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

*They 're waitin' in the kitchen, and
You 're wanted. Don't you understand?''*
Well, ef my memory serves me now,
I think I winked.—Well, anyhow,
I left the crowd a-gawkin' there,
And jest slipped off around to where
The back-door opened, and went in,
And turned and shet the door ag'in,
And mayby locked it—could n't swear, —
A woman's arms around me makes
Me liable to make mistakes.—
I read a marriage license nex',
But as I did n't have my specs

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

I jest inferred it was all right,
And tied the knot so mortal-tight
That Patience and my old friend John
Was safe enough from that time on!

Well now I might go on and tell
How all the joke at last leaked out,
And how the youngsters raised the yell
And rode the happy groom about
Upon their shoulders; how the bride
Was kissed a hunderd times beside
The one I give her,—tel she cried
And laughed untel she like to died!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

I might go on and tell you all
About the supper—and the ball.—
You 'd ought to see me twist my heel
Through jest one old Furginny reel
Afore you die! er tromp the strings
Of some old fiddle tel she sings
Some old cowtillion, don't you know,
That putts the devil in yer toe!
We kep' the dancin' up tel four O'clock, I reckon—mayby more.—
We hardly heerd the thunder's roar,
Er thought about the storm that blowed—
And them two fellers on the road!

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

Tel all at onc't we heerd the door
Bu'st open, and a voice that swore,—
And old Jeff Thompson tuck the floor.
He shuck hisse'f and looked around
Like some old dog about half-drown'd—
His hat, I reckon, weighed ten pound
To say the least, and I 'll say, shore,
His overcoat weighed fifty more—
The wettest man you ever saw,
To have so dry a son-in-law!
He sized it all; and Patience laid
Her hand in John's, and looked afraid,
And waited. And a stiller set
O' folks, I know, you never met

A HOOSIER ROMANCE

In any court-room, where with dread

They wait to hear a verdick read.

The old man turned his eyes on me :

“And have you married 'em?” says he.

I nodded “Yes.” “Well, that 'll do,”

He says, “and now we 're th'ough with you,—

You jest clear out, and I decide

And promise to be satisfied!”

He had n't nothin' more to say.

I saw, of course, how matters lay,

And left. But as I rode away

I heerd the roosters crow fer day.
